

Untitled

A father who a Premature mourn exhausted him,
Made an effigy of his offspring who was soon lost.
And cherished him, who was no more than a dead man yesterday, like God.
And formalized some secrets and rituals to his relatives...
And by the kings order the carved figures were worshiped:
Those who could not venerate these figures due to long distance inhabitancy, reconstruct them as they could be seen from afar,
And construct an egregious effigy of the king who they venerate;
thus, because of this fondness, they flattered an absent human as if he was present.

Vahid Tabatabaei

